REDEEM THE PLEDGE MADE TO STUYVESANT !

RABBI FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

Too many magazines and newspapers come to our desks to make us believe that all editorials are read by all readers. But this editorial, we hope, will be read by all our Toronto readers. At times our editorials may express some intellectual reaction to the passing world scene. At times they may voice our indignation over some brassy expression of life, blatant militarism, arrogant chauvinism. At times, we may have described an old festival and urged a new interpretation. You may have agreed enthusiastically, or disagreed violently, with us. You may have been indifferent to what was written. But with this editorial you will be in hearty agreement.

We are writing for several hundred broken-down families. We are writing for several score of orphan children. We are writing for anaemic youngsters. We are writing for boys and girls, Jewish boys and girls with all the promise of splendid manhood and womanhood. We are writing for all those whose lives have been brightened by the splendid constructive work of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. Its Welfare Society has brought relief to individuals who were temporarily helpless. It has kept families intact. It has carefully investigated all claims made upon it, and wherever possible it has aimed to make families independent and self-sustaining. The orphanage supported by Federation has housed, sheltered and educated fatherless and motherless children. The Boys' and Girls' Clubs have converted the leisure time of our young people into socially beneficial interests. The leisure which might have been abused if unguided, has been devoted to character building activities. The summer camps have brightened the vacations and strengthened the constitutions of many of our boys and girls. And so one might continue to sing the praises of the work that Federation is doing.

That work must be continued. Its standard must be improved. It must be continued because as Jews we call charity Zedakah, righteousness, and the magic passion of Jewish history has been the passion for righteousness. It must be continued because as religious men and women, we believe it is the will of God that man be his brother's keeper. Since Peter Stuyvesant allowed the first Jews to land on the North American continent in New Amsterdam (now New York), on the condition that they would take care of their poor, the Jews in the western hemisphere have taken care of their poor. The pledge made to Stuyvesant has been kept for centuries. It has not been broken. It must not be broken in Toronto. You can all redeem that pledge by working energetically and giving generously so that Federation secure its $135,000.

OTHER VOICES ABOUT IMMIGRATION

In an editorial on "Those Damned Foreigners," a few weeks ago, we referred to the bitter attacks on foreigners which have marked the discussion of the immigration problem in Canada. We were astounded that the condemnation of non-British settlers went unchallenged, especially because, on our western trip last summer, we addressed

THE REIGN OF LOUIS M.

A roll call of absolute monarchs in this world would show that the species is markedly on the decline. In Europe the class has become entirely extinct. Whatever survivors there happen to be of this erstwhile honourable fraternity are to be looked for mainly in the sub-civilized continents of Asia and Africa. People love the excitements of revolutions and elections too well to tolerate a state of living without constitutions.

America, of course, is the last place where one would expect to find any enthroned despots. Captains of industry may have the disposition of the fates of vast armies of economic vassals in their hands. But economic enslavement is not a subject written about in school histories, or the editorial columns, or sporting pages of respectable newspapers. A people of actual or potential Ford owners can never be regarded as lacking in freedom. Hence the population, general speaking, thinks of itself as being a nation of freemen.

It may therefore be surprising to some people to learn that in this free America, indeed, in the very ultra-modern city of New York, there reigneth a monarch with all the absolutism of a caliph of Bagdad or a Romanoff of pre-war Russia. We are referring to Louis M. of the Yahudim dynasty of the Bronx, absolute ruler of four million Jews of the United States of America.

In the early days of his reign, Louis M. (Marshall) surrounded himself with a retinue of other wise and influential men who helped him bear the burdens of government. The American-Jewish committee was a sort of executive council whom the chief often took into his confidence and consulted with. The mass of American Jewry at times grumbled at the rule of the lords. It questioned their right to govern. But in the long run it was satisfied to accept their sovereignty. For were they not Jews from Germany, and wealthy, and influential in politics? Where could a more benevolently disposed set of rulers be found?

In the course of time, however, the chief of the coterie who ruled by the grace of their combined power, began to appropriate more and more of its power unto himself. And now, finally, it has come to pass that the sanction and power of the government are an incident of his own personality. The law under which American Jewry lives, in respect of its Jewish concerns, is not American Jewish Committee law, but as Israel Zangwill once put it, "Marshall law." People do not any longer refer to the American-Jewish committee as the representative institution of American Jewry. They refer to Louis Marshall, as the head and representative of American Jewry.

Now Louis M. is a wise and benevolent ruler. He is a man of excellent qualities. He is zealous and devoted to the cause of his subjects. One cannot but admire the beauty of his character. In his day people loved and admired Caesar. Even the last Wilhelm was not without certain attributes of greatness. But with all due allowances for personal merits, even that of an advanced and venerable age, may not a humble citizenry rebel against a growing tendency to despotism?

The Jews of America have passed the stage of being a helpless

HADASSAH RALLY

What happened in Palestine within the last twelve months, particularly from the point of view of Zionist achievement in the upbuilding of a Jewish national homeland, was comprehensively outlined by Louis Fitch, K.C., at a gathering of Montreal Hadassah, Wednesday evening last, in Community Hall of Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, Kensington Avenue. Mrs. H. Singer, on behalf of Montreal Hadassah, presented Golden Book certificates for services rendered in Jewish National Fund work to Mrs. A. Poyaner and Misses Irene Leckner and Freda Presser. Announcement was made that Mesdames B. Perelmuter, H. Druxerman and S. Wittes will visit and address chapters of Hadassah next week.

Mr. Fitch said that some of the policies introduced by the Government which had done much to stabilize the prosperity of the country and ameliorate unemployment had been the introduction of changes in the tariff system, the introduction of the new Palestinian currency which had appreciably brought down the cost of living, the starting of work on the Haifa harbour and road building and other public construction which had given work to thousands of unemployed. The speaker dwelt also briefly on the Routtenberg scheme by which the Jordan would be harnessed to give electricity to the whole country. This, he said, would also be the means of giving employment.

COMMENTARIES

A SYMBOL OF UNITY—THE OLD PEOPLE'S HOME

Sunday was unique day in the history of Montreal Jewry. To the dedication of The Old People's Home gathered the classes and masses of the community. Imaginary boundary lines existing between the West and the East were for the moment cast out of the minds of the multitudes, there was a spirit of joy uniting all. And it was great to see Reform Jews, Conservative, Orthodox and even Radicals, united in praise of "our wonderful community." There were some touching scenes which the sensitive soul could easily grasp. There was our friend, Solomon Levinson, old in years but young in spirit, a man beloved by all, a man of honesty and integrity, of unbounding charity, who with silver trowel inserted the final stone marking the completion of the building. The piety and fervour with which he pronounced the ancient "Sheche Yonie" will ever be remembered. The Hon. L. David, Provincial Secretary, brought a fine message to the thousands who stood outside of the building. Our friends, Messrs. Lyon Cohen and Peter Bercovitch, both spoke words in due season. All in all it was a pleasant day in the history of Montreal Jewry. When night came a new Simchah took place in the home, arranged by the "downtown" group. Thousands congregated in every part of the building. The author of Commentaries "darshened" after Mr. Joseph Cohen, spoke of the "miracles" as far as Jewish Unity is concerned in Montreal. Rabbis Cohen and Weichtfoogel excelled themselves. Then Allan Bronfman made a passionate appeal for "a better understanding" which was inspiring in every way. Michael Hirsch attempted a speech in Yiddish but was compelled to conclude in English. But what matters it—Wolofsky in Yiddish or Hirsch in English? The Jewish heart spoke throughout the evening. God desireth the heart. May the "Yiddishe Hertz" ever keep us together in unity and fellowship. The Old People's Home is indeed a symbol of Jewish Unity.

WELCOME DR. LYNN HAROLD HOUGH

Montreal has now in its midst one of the outstanding leaders of the Protestant Church in the person of Rev. Dr. Lynn Harold Hough. He has recently come to lead in the work of the local American Presbyterian Church. Dr. Hough has been battling for the Religion of the Open Mind. Thus everywhere he is looked upon as an apostle of brotherhood and goodwill. In Detroit, the name of Dr. Hough is beloved by Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant. Welcome, Dr. Hough, to Montreal! Detroit's loss is our gain!

"NUMBER 7"

He is a Jewish lad of eighteen, working in the big hotel of our city. To the multitude he is best designated as "number seven." The visitors to the hotel care little who he is. In the mad rush of things and pleasures, they call for the tailor shop and "number seven" makes his appearance in the respective rooms to collect the clothes, suits and coats that are to be pressed. Ah, but stop "number seven" and chat with him. Then you learn he is a boy working his way through school. Parents of course can't afford to send him to college. This unknown lad, as far as the daily visitors are concerned, is a mere tailor boy. Many are there such Jewish lads, who thus fight their way to the top of affairs. Glory to these Yiddish boys who depend not on the fat pocket-books of their parents but who build successfully their own little world. "Number seven" is an unknown individual. He is to the prosaic person a mere number. But some day—some day—the world may hear from him. There are many such in our city. These numbers will be reckoned with some day.

E. W. BENNETT, 1023 BLEURY STREET, IS IN A POSITION TO GIVE MERCHANDISERS "PHOTOGRAPHS THAT TELL THE STORY." MR. BENNETT IS WELL KNOWN IN MONTREAL AS A PHOTOGRAPHER OF HIGH MERIT. "Sometimes when people censure me,
I tell them without rancour
That for what it cost me to be free
I might have had an anchor."

The Soviet Commissar of Education, Lunatcharsky, in an interview granted in Moscow to Israel Chipkin of the Jewish Education Association of New York, is confident that the Jews will solve the problem of schools for their children. The Soviet law permits religious instruction in supplementary schools where the pupils have attended state schools for two years. Lunatcharsky said that the Soviet Government would allow state schools to be established with Hebrew the language of instruction "provided the Jews would agree among themselves." Of course there had to be a catch in it somewhere!

In the city of Hamilton, Ontario, the Congregation Machsiky elected J. Kronick, H. Steinman and L. Goren on a peace committee. Ah, yes. And what's it for? Is this a way the congregation has of knocking on wood?

When Justice Fisher, of Toronto, ruled that a contract must be filled by which David Tick, of Hamilton, agreed to pay $2,000 to Irving Morrison, of Buffalo, in consideration of Morrison's marrying Tick's daughter, Esther, he referred to the written contract produced in court as representing "one of the most cold-blooded transactions of which I have ever heard." And so it is, so it is. It is more than cold-blooded—it is Antarctic. Moreover, it was such hideous bad taste on the part of the groom to bring up this contract affair a year after his marriage for the sake of appealing from the refusal of a trustee to recognize his claim as a preferred one on the bankruptcy estate of Tick. Chivalry might have commanded him to shrug his shoulders and let that $2,000 go rather than endure the publicity attendant on telling the world that he had married Esther for money and had gone about it as a straight business agreement. On the other hand, it must be remembered that $2,000 is $2,000 and circumstances force a column to regard this sum in the same way that a cap manufacturer might regard $200,000.

To many, chiefly Goyim, Irving's callousness in demanding publicly what was coming to him in a delicate transaction, will make of this case an isolated one. But those who know there "ain't no Santy Claus" and call Jewish realities by their proper names will see in this apparent brazenness merely an extreme in a custom which has not died out and which may be found in high society as well as medium and low. There are other Irvings but all of their fathers-in-law don't go bankrupt before they pay up and all of them don't talk even when the fathers-in-law close up the store. There are other Irvings but they may accept nothing but hard cash or certified cheques. True? It would be pleasant to believe that all the matches you see in Israel were made in heaven but it must be charged gently that heaven cannot be entirely depended upon to take care of every Jewish youth and maiden and from the Jewish point of view they have all got to be taken care of. Parents shrink from the fear of retaining what Oliver Wendell Holmes calls "an ungathered rose on our ancestral tree," and from the unnaturalness of unmarried sons.

It is the dream of every Jewish girl to discern coming out of the west a dashing, brilliant suitor who will sweep her off her feet because there is no one in the world who appeals to him so much. Many Jewish girls do make love matches. Do most? Alas for dreams when men remain the selectors. Selectors put a price on themselves. Can you imagine a selector, a hero, a lord of creation with all the over-inflation that the Jewish home fosters in its worship of sons—can you imagine this god as a rule giving himself away? For nothing? As he goes about keeping his weather eye peeled and his ear cocked he heeds Tennyson's advice contained in "The Northern Farmer": "Doan't marry money but go where money is." It follows then that the man who goes where money is can do nothing else but marry money, even when he marries for love!

Suppose he marries without love for money. It is then that the Jewish bridegroom shows his real stripe. He is like the Italian cab driver who tries to include alle milas in striking a bargain. But even when the price agreed upon is less than perfect he is still all smiles because it is settled. Once it is evident to the prospective bridegroom who it is who is going to share his life's weal and woe he can get along without idyllic romance. If it comes to him it is the bubbles on the champagne. There is no case on record of a Jew who went into emaciated decline because a substantial dowery diverted him from some moneyless marriage for love. And if the Jewish groom prefers a dowery with his bride this does not keep him from being famed far and wide as the best sort of husband a girl can get.

Marcia watched the cooking but showed no interest in her beloved farina. Aunt Bertha, thinking that she did not recognize the concoction, said, "Look, dear! this is farina." At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross, 26 Bracondale Hill Road, the wedding took place of their second daughter, Dollie, to William Abraham, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Ader, of Rochester, N.Y. Rabbi Isserman officiated. The house was decorated with roses and lilies-of-the valley. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was in a period gown of white satin moire, her veil arranged in crown effect with Chantilly lace. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies-of-the-valley and baby's breath. The maid of honour, Miss Ray Ross, sister of the bride, wore a period gown of orchid chiffon velvet. The groom was attended by his brother, George Ader. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served for the immediate relatives. Mrs. J. Ross, mother of the bride, in a beaded gown of green satin, with Mrs. S. Ader, mother of the groom, in a white sequin gown, received the guests. The couple left on an extended motor trip to the Thousand Islands, Montreal, Ottawa and other points. On their return they will live in Rochester, N.Y. Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. S. Ader and son, George, and Mr. and Mrs. Kroll, all of Rochester; Mrs. C. Rabbi Isserman's Editorials

Canadian, Rotary, Kiwanis Clubs in all the large western municipalities on immigration, and the views we presented, which were in harsh contrast with those now given such notoriety, seemed to be enthusiastically received. In fact, in two communities, in Regina and in Calgary, newspaper editorials lauded our stand. We did not believe that the voice of Bishop Lloyd was the voice of the Canadian West—nay, not even of the Anglican Church of the west.

That belief has been strengthened. In the past few weeks, other voices have made themselves heard on the immigration issue, and these have spoken in appreciation of the foreigner. Among these we mention the Bishop of the Anglican Church in Edmonton, who refused to associate himself with the views of Bishop Lloyd, Bishop Roper of Ottawa, who at the conference of the Anglican Church of Ontario in North Bay, stated that he wanted the church to disassociate itself from any unkind references to groups within Canada made by any of its spokesmen, and who, further, stated that if British settlers will not come to fill up Canada, then Canada has no moral right to keep other of God's children out. These remarks were applauded heartily, and we can interpret them as a repudiation of the harsh indictment of Bishop Lloyd. We also must refer to Rev. Dr. Salem G. Bland, that sturdy Christian, in whose life so much that is spiritual has found expression, who in several articles in "The Toronto Star," where he is known as the Observer, decried the hostile sentiments to foreigners. Bland is a high-minded individual whose sympathies are with minority groups and who on all occasions protests when such groups are maltreated. In addition, the Canadian Club of Calgary drew up resolutions which condemned the anti-foreign agitation. And lastly, and most significantly were the words of the Honourable Chas. R. Dunning, a member of the King Cabinet, who in an address to the Canadian Club in London, England, stated that foreigners make good Britishers and good Canadians. The public schools, according to the Honourable Mr. Dunning, inculcate in the foreigner and his children a love for British ideals and for Canada. We are happy to note these expressions as they indicate that Canada will not be stampeded by a few brazen jingoists.

"We move dirt by tons!"

Our research on the subject of dirt, brought to us in family wash bundles, has been very extensive. We do not guess—we know, as accurately as science can to-day determine, just how to remove dirt of all kinds from fabrics of all kinds, without injury to the articles themselves. No household can hope to compete with such laundry methods. For safety's sake, then, use your phone and let one of our young ladies explain to you our five different kinds of family wash service and tell you about our moderate charges.

MAIL BOX

Editor, CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW:

The Hebrew patients in Weston Sanitarium would like to express their appreciation for the good work done for us by the Hebrew Sanitarium Club, which looks after all tubercular patients from the city of Toronto.

This society supplies us with one complete Hebrew kosher meal every day, which is appreciated by all the patients who are greatly benefited.

The cooking is all done by one woman in her own kitchen. This necessarily entails a large expense, and we would appreciate your bringing to the attention of your readers the necessity of this society securing sufficient funds to carry on this good work.

The chairman of this society is Mrs. Mehr, 121 Lyndhurst Avenue, 'phone Hillcrest 8088, Toronto, Ont., who would be pleased to receive any contributions which may be forwarded. I can assure you that every penny contributed goes to the benefit of Hebrew patients here, the society paying their own expenses.

Hoping you can see your way clear to bring this to the attention of your readers, because it is our little bit to try and help this society.

I am, Sir, very truly yours,

A. SHAIN,
on behalf of the Hebrew Patients,
Weston Sanitarium, Weston, Ont.

Editorial

mass of immigrants, uncertain of their bearings, and grateful for paternalistic handouts by the older German-Jewish group. The bulk of them have become acclimatized, have struck roots in the cultural and economic soil of the country, and know just what the whole business is about. They can now vocalize for themselves, and when occasions arrive for self-expression, they wish to have their own say. May they not, therefore, be permitted to doubt the right of American-Jewish committees or Marshalls to pose as their leaders and spokesmen?

Marshall is an estimable gentleman. Did he speak the mind of American Jewry when he made his famous (or infamous) statements regarding Jewish minority rights some two years ago? American Jewry was ashamed of his craven attitude in the matter. But then he is an absolute monarch, and does not need to consult the feelings of his subjects.

Marshall is an astute lawyer, capable of conducting delicate negotiations with skill. But when Ford made his overtures to the Jewish people, did it not strike sensitive Jews that Marshall was somewhat arrogant in snapping so readily into the role of a plenipotentiary for the Jewdom of the world? Aaron Sapiro was the soldier who fought the battle. Marshall, at a moment's notice began to act the statesman, taking advantage of the soldier's victory. Might he not have consulted other Jewish leaders to ascertain their terms? He loses as little time in donning the uniform of a world Jewish leader as does a fireman in slipping on his accoutrement in the emergency of a fire.

And now the Massena incident. With all respect to Mr. Marshall, does it not appear somewhat officious for any individual unhesitatingly to take it for granted that any Jewish business is his business? Jewish public opinion has been condemnatory of Mr. Berg, head of the American-Jewish legion for presuming to set forth terms on behalf of the Jewish people. Mr. Berg, it is claimed, had no right to deal with the Mayor of Massena. Mr. Berg is chief of Jewish ex-servicemen. Fine enough. But this circumstance does not justify his speaking for the Jewish people. Mr. Marshall is head of the Jewish committee. What of it? Wherein is the committee of wealthy men more competent to speak for the Jewish public than an organization of ex-soldiers who have shed blood for America?

We have read the text of Mr. Marshall's letter to the Mayor of Massena. It did not surprise us that reference to the existence of the American-Jewish committee, and to its authority in Jewish affairs was not made until nearly the bottom of the letter. The impression furnished was that the matter was between the Mayor of Massena and one Mr. Marshall, head of the Jews of America.

Further, we are not an authority on American politics. But it struck us as significant that in the Massena incident, which apparently fell within the jurisdiction of the state authorities, Mr. Marshall invoked the aid of Herbert Hoover, a man presently without office and aspirant for the presidency. We happen to know that Hoover is a Republican; also that Mr. Marshall is a Republican.

We entertain a wholesome admiration for Mr. Marshall as a philanthropist, and public-spirited Jew. We entertain no admiration for a state of affairs which permits any individual to presume to act in season and out of season, as the anointed head of the Jewish people. It is time that the Jewish congress was reorganized to serve as a proper instrument for the authorized expression of Jewish public opinion.
